

As vaccine toll rises, Twitter doubles down... but the edifice is starting to crumble - The Conservative Woman

Kathy Gyngell August 3, 2022

THE toll of Covid vaccine-related deaths in the UK continues to rise, according to latest figures from the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency.

In the 14 days following the MHRA's previous summary report for June 29, 2022 – analysed here – there were eight more deaths, bringing total vaccine fatalities to 2,213.

One of these recent unnecessary deaths was categorised as a pemphigoid, a rare autoimmune disorder causing blistering of the skin and mucous membranes.

Interestingly, it was another such vaccine-triggered auto-immune skin disease which a jab victim had tweeted about last week, that I retweeted, causing my permanent suspension from Twitter.

Here is the original tweet

Retweeting this with an expression of sympathy, according to Twitter, made me guilty of 'spreading misleading and potentially harmful information related to Covid-19'.

Yet it is clear from the MHRA's Yellow Card system of reporting vaccination 'adverse events' that thousands of skin disorders have been notified by doctors since the start of the rollout.

In fact there have been no less than 102,513 reports for skin disorder reactions – 34,817 relating to the Pfizer vaccine, 53,605 to the AstraZeneca version, 13,699 to Moderna and 392 where the make of vaccine is unknown.

But while Twitter remains determined to silence communication of vaccine injuries, the omerta is thankfully breaking elsewhere.

In this country, we have to thank Mark Steyn (and GB News) for picking up the baton and running with it. In interview after interview with the vaccine bereaved, he has given a public profile to the real people behind the under-reported Yellow Card statistics. These culminated in Mark's groundbreaking studio programme two weeks ago, where he was joined by the vaccine-injured and bereaved. If you missed it you can watch it here.

And other cracks are appearing in the official refusal to acknowledge that the vaccines are neither safe nor effective. In a number of countries – sadly, not including the US – vaccine injuries have started to be compensated, albeit inadequately this does mean recognition rather than denial. You can read the Epoch Times report here.

A further breakthrough is the German Health Ministry's recent acknowledgment of injuries caused by the vaccines. In a 'first' it publicly acknowledged that the Covid vaccines cause serious side effects for one in every 5,000 doses, via a tweet.

This stated (via Google translate) that: 'One in 5,000 people is affected by a serious side effect after a COVID19 #vaccination. If you suspect #sideeffects, get medical attention and report your symptoms to @PEI\_Germany, later correcting the tweet to say that the figure related to doses rather than individuals.

There are two points of interest here. The first is that although the UK's Yellow Card reporting rate is double that of Germany, we have yet to hear such an announcement from our Department of Health and Social Care. Germany's MHRA equivalent, the Paul Ehrlich Institute, is receiving 1.7 reports per 1,000 vaccine doses, and for serious reactions 0.2 reports per 1,000 doses. At a similar reporting rate the UK would have received only 244,916 reports. In fact the MHRA reports 459,968 people being impacted. Though MHRA Yellow Cards are capturing twice as many adverse events as the PEI of Germany it seems our DHSC is not taking them so seriously.

Where Germany also shows up the UK is their acknowledgment and categorisation of serious injury. Likewise Iceland who have recently reported the existence of serious child cases. Why does the MHRA do the same? Why for example are not we told how many of the 4,282 under-18 Yellow Card reports are serious or life-threatening or have been fatal? Since children do not need the vaccine makes this lack of transparency even more egregious.

Another crack in the edifice has been exposed by the recent tweets by the head of Israel's Biological Institute, the most senior medical scientist in Israel (equivalent to the UK's Chief Medical Officer Chris Whitty or the US's Dr Fauci) indicate that the facade of safe and effective vaccination and claims of 'Covid misinformation' cannot surely hold up much longer.

As always I close with the sorry reading that is a summary up-to-date breakdown of the MHRA Yellow Card's most recent reporting to July 13, 2022 (data published July 22).
